What it means to be a Connecticut Public Leadership Giver

Leadership Circle members are our most generous annual contributors. They are passionate about Connecticut Public and our vision to be an essential source for truth and ideas that connects the citizens of Connecticut to their communities and to the world.

Our Leadership Circle is a recognition society for donors who through their annual donations of $1,000 or more ensure that Connecticut Public remains the state’s trusted public media source for fact-based journalism, information, educational resources, and quality programming on TV, radio and digital platforms.

As special members, Leadership Givers have access to PBS Passport, advanced notice of special ticketed shows, concerts and other events, invitations to donor gatherings, and program screenings. They enjoy an “insider’s” perspective through our INPublic newsletter and access to INConversation events featuring CT Public personalities, media creators, and station leaders in topical conversations. It’s easy to join through a one-time gift or in monthly installments as a Connecticut Public Sustainer.

In appreciation

Nick Donofrio believes in the power of education and hands-on learning. With a generous gift to Connecticut Public, Nick established the Donofrio Media Internship. Donofrio Interns work alongside Connecticut Public media professionals gaining first-hand experience in areas ranging from journalism and broadcast production to digital content development and marketing. Nick is also a champion of community college culture as former Chairman of Connecticut Board of Regents for Higher Education. In an effort to marry these two areas of interest, the Donofrio Interns are selected from the Connecticut State Colleges & Universities system in a partnership that also provides Donofrio Public Media scholarships to students.
