America is preparing to mark the 20th anniversary of 9/11. On the next Cutline, we explore the attacks through conversation about memorials, memory and meaning. We’ll travel to the 9/11 Living Memorial at Sherwood Island State Park in Westport, where Connecticut residents gathered on September 11th to see smoke from the World Trade Center rise above the NYC skyline. As we remember those who perished, we’ll speak with a historian, a first responder, a post-9/11 military veteran, a Muslim leader, and young people.

AUGUST RADIO HIGHLIGHTS

Has America lost its preeminent place in the world? After World War II, the U.S. became the architect and leader of a series of overlapping international alliances and agreements relying on cooperation to seed the unrivaled progress and prosperity of the postwar era. But the popular platform of “America First,” which symbolized President Trump’s world view, has effectively shattered that bipartisan foreign policy consensus. In the wake of the country’s most consequential foreign policy election in the post-war era, the panelists debate how to project American power and how to protect the country from foreign threats.

Since the Kardashians became America’s royalty, celebrity has defined the country’s culture, an essential element to win power and influence. Donald Trump took celebrity to new heights, using it to become the most powerful man in the world. Now a new generation of luminaries is coming of age. Who are they? What do they have in common? What do they tell us about the country’s direction and its future?
