“Let all men know thee, but no man know thee thoroughly.”

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

A FILM BY KEN BURNS

STARTS MONDAY APRIL 4 8P

For more information visit ctpublic.org/franklin
Housing is a basic necessity, it shapes almost every part of our lives, from our community of neighbors, to the school districts our children attend. Many of Connecticut’s towns and cities are racially and socioeconomically segregated – with municipalities just a few miles apart featuring staggering disparities in income and racial makeup.

Mary Berry Country House Secrets

Monday, April 11 10 p.m. on CPTV
Mary Berry is given an exclusive invitation to some of the UK’s most lavish country houses. Join her as she meets the families who own these exceptional homes and their knowledgeable, dedicated staff.

Rise of the Nazis Season 2

Tuesdays Beginning April 12 9 p.m. on CPTV
Facing defeat on the Eastern Front, resistance builds as Hitler pushes Germany to untold destruction. This is the story of why dictatorships fail, and of the hubris that nearly destroyed freedom, but ultimately destroyed itself.

The Trick

Premieres Tuesday, April 26 9 p.m. on Spirit
Professor Phil Jones and his team at the University of East Anglia find themselves in the middle of a major investigation with their 30 years of research work being questioned in the first “fake news” attack.

Cutline: Connecticut’s Housing Divide

features diverse community voices discussing the policies driving segregation in our state, and how this issue relates to a broader national crisis in housing stability.

Stream: ctpublic.org/cutline

What does housing equity look like in Connecticut?

Camila Vallejo is a corps member with Report for America, a national service program that places journalists in local newsrooms. She is a bilingual reporter for Connecticut Public Radio based out of Fairfield County. Camila covers housing and housing disparities across the state.

1. The Velas, facing eviction, could now be eligible for free legal aid.
2. Federal funds target asthma triggers in low-income homes.
4. Residents facing eviction could now be eligible for free legal aid.
